

Method for modifying the storage reserve content in plants

Abstract:

The invention relates to a method for modifying the storage reserve content in 5 plants, where leghemoglobin- and/or hemoglobin-expressing transformed plants are employed, to corresponding plants, and to their use.